Waseington, February 28 .- In the Senate, the Bill authorizing the construction of a bridge over the Missouri, at Fort Leavenworth, was referred to the Military Committee.

The Educational Department Bill passed, and goes to the President. The Committee on Foreign Relations were discharged from the further consideration of the Bill ta take soundings for a cable from this country to France, in consequence of the remonstrance of certain Canadians against the confederation of the provinces. The Bill allowing the officers of the Wianton to receive presents from Russia, passed. The Postmaster-General was ordered to report whether contractor A. G. CARTER, at Staunton, Va., could take the oath. A Bill temporarily increasing the compensation of army officers, passed. The Civil Appropriation Bill was then takn up, and the question of paying unqualified agents in the South, resumed. CHANDLER asserted that DAN. VORHEES WAS MCCULLOCH'S secret agent. HENDRICKS interrupted CHANDLEB, asserting that his statement was untrue. An amendment was adopted paying Treasury officers up to August, 1866, and the Bill passed. The Senate then took

Committee of Conference. The Committee on Foreign Relations will not report on Mexican affairs. At half-past 2 P. M. MORRILL said he would make a last effort for the Tariff. He moved a suspension of the rules, so as to bring the matter before the House. Half a dozen efforts were made, failing in each case to obtain the requisite twothirds vote.

The House then took a recess. Congressional Amenities.

WASHINGTON, February 28 .- In the debate today. SUMNER accused Secretary McCulloca of falsehood in his statement of his inability to secure Revenue officers in the South who were able to take the required oath. SHERMAN retorted passionately, characterizing Summer's language as thets that were characterized by FESSENDEN a foul-mouthed abuse. The scene grew out of the amendment striking out the pay of Southern North Carolina Legislature.

RALLIGH, February 23.—A resolution introduced into the House of Commons, declaring North Carolina's acceptance of the Congressional Reconstruction Bill, created much excitement and an animated discussion, and was finally referred to the Committee on Federal Belations.

RETURN OF THE EXILES.—The Constitutionalist of the 27th, in speaking of the Hon. ROBERT TOOMES Bays: "A gentleman, who arrived in the city last ovening, informs us that he met the Hon. ROBERT Tooms at Parnett, en route to his home in Washington, Wilkes county. He returned to this country nig New Orleans."

At the Commencement of the Eclectic Medical College of New York, last week, the following paragraph formed part of the address:

Our impression also is that our graduates, and other students, are deeply devoted to the peculiar doctrines of American Eclecticism—peculiar, in that we select our remedies from every school of practice, and from all sources, with impartiality; peculiar, in that we reject bloodletting and all other measures which are extremely depletive and exhausting; peculiar, in that we object to mercury, arsenic and other mineral poisons; and peculiar, also, in that we are actively discovering and developing numerous remedies of inestimable value, from the fields and forests of our own country. The graduates of the 'Eclectic Medical College of the City of New York' will now, and hereafter, go forth belonging to no medical party, except so far as they are cempelled to be a party, in order that they may be true to themselves, as the believers in, and exponents and defenders of, the party of universal and progressive medical science." that we select our remedies from every school of universal and progressive medical science

This may be progressive science, but to our old fogy ears, it has a very strong twang of quack.

A hermit has taken up his abode in the Apach in the Hunco Mountains, about thirtyfive miles east of El Paso. He is an Italian by birth, about sixty years of age, speaks many languages, is well educated, and is believed by the simple Mexicans, who visit him by hundreds, to be endowed with remarkable gifts, such as the working of miracles, etc. He has resided in Peru, among the Andes, in Brazil, Patagonia, Central America, and subsequently in Europe and Asia, and also in the Pyrences, and more recently among the mountains of New Mexico.

The London Exhibition of 1851 contained an area of 71,000 square yards, and cost 7,500,000f.; that of 1855, in Paris, contained 115,000 square yards, and cost 11,000,000f.; that of 1862, in London, contained 120,000 square yards, and cost 15,000,000f.; and the Paris Exhibition of this year will occupy an area of 146,588 square yards, and is expected to cost about 20,000,000f.

ened Reverdy Johnson.

The sudden and astounding support given by REVERDY JOHNSON to SHERMAN'S Bill is at last ex- the above subject: it was the purpose of the next Congress, which is ten-fold more remcrseless, violent and proscriptive than the present, to press the passage of a wholesale confiscation bill if the present plan for reconopened firmer, with a more active speculative and struction fails. He quaited before the revelation of this Moloch spirit, and the vision of confiscation and beggary of millions of his countrymen extorted from him the reluctant support of an infamous measure. He saw au unarmed, noble and defeated section powerless, in the grasp and at the mercy of an unfeeling foe, more remcrseless than Goth, Hun, Hessian or Turk, and he made, as he believed, a timely sacrifice of opinion to save a people whom he loved, and for whose wrongs his

There may be men cast in unusual and heroic mould, designed doubtless by GoD to play the part of martyrs, who find in this conduct of Mr. JOHNSON sufficient ground for denunciation, but we do not. If this explanation of the reason for REVERDY JOHNSON'S change is true, we think he has committed one of those sirs which the "Recording Angel will blot out with a tear" for the weakness of a generous heart, when the books of the Chancery of Heaven are opened for the final balancing of all earthly accounts.

The South has been scourged terribly enough for all same men to pray that confiscation, that last sad vial of Apocalyptic wrath shall not be poured upon our heads. The world is sufficiently full of the tales of the heroism of this blighted and impoverished section, for us, in the moment of extreme peril, to wish to protect our wifes, our children, and our desolated firesides from the horors of absolute destitution. Secure as he is in his own life and property from the malice and the greed of the modern Goths, the menaced South should surely listen with charity to the excuse which the friends of REVERDY JOHNSON offer for his support of the "SHERMAN Bill." Gratefully remembering during the war, and his heroic and frequent denunciations of the outrages on the South from his seat in the Senate, we regret that we should have prematurely denounced him to our readers for rielding to the dictates of a heart full of kindness for us.-Richmond Times.

THE RICHMOND Times, adverting to the Governorship of Virginia, thus speaks of the heroic General LEE:

"There was a time when his splendid genius had hurled army after army of Federal invaders, broker, defeated and demoralized, from the soil of broker, defeated and demoralized, from the soil of his mother State, and when our success seemed assured, rumor attributed to this great man the modest admission that he craved no higher honor than to be the Governor of Virginia. Until he speaks, we trust that no inferior man will dare to to outrage public opinion in Virginia by venturing to solicit an office which Lee may not feel authorized to decline?

The persistency with which the organs of Southern opinion dilate upon the glorious incidents of the campaign, the intense interest with which the actors in those stirring scenes are regarded, in spite of the abounding miseries entailed by the war upon the Southern people, give evidence of a strength and continuity in the national sentiment which ought to extort the admiration rather than not particularly gentlemanly and totally false. the hatred of their conquerors, and quicken the CHANDLER echoed SUMNER, and indulged in epirized the acts of the American Government or

The policy of the North, viewed in either a political or social aspect, cannot fail, sooner or later to rekindle the elements of strife; and it is hard to say what combinations the South may not be enabled to form, should Northern hatred again force them to blows. Daily subjected to humiliations more disastrous than defeat, denied the aid which magnanimous conqueror never refuses to a fallen nemy, stung to the quick at being placed on an equality with the freedmen, erstwhile bound to them as much by lies of affection and gratitude as by the rights of proprietorship, forced into the living death of a political union which they hate, and which now deprives them of all participation in the gorvernment of the common country, it may indeed be regarded as inevitable that they will seek again to throw off the intolerable yoke, and trust to the arbitrament of battle to relieve them from Northern domination. With the Franco-Mexican imbroglio still unsettled,-the Monroe doctrine reiterated by the American press, Government and people,-Northern diplomacy conspicuous for an arrogant dictation unknown in the modern history of States, and a studied violation of the principles of that neutrality of which the American Government constitutes tself the sole judge and interpreter—the Euroean Powers would view a renewal of the rebellion with widely different sensations than were evoked by a struggle involving the extinction of an instiution repugnant to civilization. If the North were wise if the Government and people were possessed of but an ordinary amount of prudence and foresight, they would cease all attempts at repression, withdraw the obnoxious Constitutional Amendment, and, by a kind and conciliatory policy, bring back the loyal allegiance of the States lately in arms against her. By neglecting to do this she will render herself responsible for fresh disasters : and in the present temper of both North and South and the great European Powers, there are elements of embroilment which might speedily burst into a flame, and envelop Anglo-Saxon civilization in, perhaps, a common glory and a common nin .- Montreal (Canada) News, February 15.

Minority Report of the South Carolina Murders.

Hon. EDMUND COOPER, of the Select Committee appointed by Congress to inquire into the murder of the Federal soldiers in South Carolina, has submitted a minority report on the subject in which he altogether dissents from the opinions of the majority of the committee as expressed in their report. Mr. Coopen says that the facts elicited at the trial of the prisoners J. C. KEYES. F. G. STOWES, POBERT KEYES and ELISHA BYEUM do not prove their guilt; that the tribunal by which they were tried was illegal; that they were brought to Fort Delaware by order of Secretary Stanton, and also justifies the commutation of their sentence by the President, and their subsequent release after a trial before an United States Court. In regard to the alleged outrages on freedmen in the South Mr.

It is true that General Thomas, General Sickles, It is true that General Thomas, General Sickles, General Wood and General Baird in their testimony express the opinion that the civil tribunals in the departments under their command do not administer full and impartial justice in cases where Union men, soldiers and freedmen are parties litigant; but they furnish but one single case, although the direct question is asked them, and that was a case in the State of Tennessee, mentional states and the state of Tennessee, mentional states are set of the state of Tennessee, mention the state tioned by General Thomas, which he admits to be the only one within his department. It is true that they mention in general terms that

Union men, Federal soldiers and freedmen are not safe in their departments, but when asked to specify the number of cases and the localities whore they have occurred, and the names of the parties injured within the last twelve months, they could nly mention one case in the State of Tennes Nashville; one in the State of Mississippi, at Gr nasarvine; one in the State of Mississippi, at Grenada; one in the State of Louisiana, on the road between Alexandria and Monroe, and not a single case in Virginia except the Watson case, and no case in North Carolina, Georgia, Florida or Ala-

And in each of these cases these officers testify that every exertion was made by the civil author. ties to arrest and punish the offending parties.

Mr. Cooper, in conclusion, says: "Hence, I do not believe with the committee well, covering it up with its long mane when it that the courts cannot be relied on for the punishment of orime, where the Union man, soldier and Mr. Fairgrieve was compelled to take the calf or freedman is concerned, and that justice is prac- from her, as she threatened to kill it. He immeditically denied them; or, that up to this time, since the close of the war, there has been no change for the bette; and that the best material interest of the country, as well as the highest considerations of humanity,' call for the establishsucerations or numanity,' call for the establishment of military governments over the States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas. On the contrary, in my opinion, genuine freedom is imperriled by such legislation, and that it cannot long survive the corrupting influence of 'oristling bayonets and the vausing ambition of military rulers.'"

CONVICTS.—In 1865 there were sent from England to Western Australia 556 convicts, and the total number received up to the end of the year was 8716, of whom 3931 were still convicts. The ticket-of-leave holders in the colony were estimat ed at 1500.

Miss Violet Blair is said to be the prettiest girl in Washington. An exchange says she has the fragrance of a rose-bud and the modesty of a violet, and is to be the wife of a clergyman.

A grand cock fight came off in Mobile recently, in which Alabama and Kentucky were the rivals. There was a hundred dollars on each fight, making the stake for the main one thousand dollars, which was won by Alabama.

It gave the military no authority to organize one. This was logical, because the complaint was that the governments in other States South were organized under military surveillance.

to declare the Act unconstitutional. This was illusory. The Supreme Court had, some forty days ago, delivered an opinion in the Milligan case, and had gone out of the record and declared that Congress had no authority to authorize military com-mi sions to try supposed offenders. Congress had never authorized a military commission by aw; but now, while the words of this decision were law; but now, while the words of this decision the fresh in the mouths of the judges, the Congress has passed the Act authorizing the commission, which was as much as to say, now we have authorized the contract of the cont

He said there were two ways to make the Constitution under this act of Congress. The first is for all who desire to enter into the movement to hold their primary meetings in each county and elect delegates to a central convention, where they will fix the number of delegates and appoint delegates to the convention to make a Constitu-

Congress. This course was opposed by some and it was proposed for them to fold their armi and it was proposed for them to fold their arms in indifference, and take no action in the premises. Ho was in favor of calling the convention in the mode last indicated, because it would be done under the form of law, and he thought would be more likely to secure an acceptable constitution with this new element in the body politic who were to preferred. constitution with the politic, who were to participate in the elections and government of the State. If the constitution was left to be made under the mode first indicated was left to be made under the mode first indicated they might got a good constitution, or they may get a very unacceptable one. He supposed under the act of Congress there was not more than five per cent. of the white voters excluded—perhaps less. The great body of the people had their lands, families and debts, which they could not leave; and it was not in his opinion wise to say, because some of us cannot participate, none of us will. He had determined long since, when he could not get all he wanted to get the next best he could. In conhe wanted, to get the next best he could. In con-clusion, he assured them if they did not provide for making a constitution one would be made for

The Richmond Times says that at the hour fixed and Senate Chamber together there were, perhaps about the same number of members of the Legis lature. It is proper to state that such prominent and influential members of either house as wer present attended solely because they considered i the members of the Legislature.

THE FAMINE IN SOUTH CAROLINA.—The Southern Famine Relief Commission, of New York, have received many letters from South Carolina, all of which agree in representing the scarcity of provisions in that State as being of the most serious character. It extends over nearly the whole State and unless relief be quickly given, nothing, it is stated, can prevent absolute starvation among the poorer classes, while a large number of the planters and farmers will be left without seed for the the Estate of the said Testator on or before the 15th day next crop. CAMELS BORN IN CAPTIVITY .- A Cheeltnham (Eng.) paper says: "An Arabian or single hump camel, and a Bactrian or double hump camel, both belonging to Mrs. Wombwell's menagerie, have just given birth to calves. The Bactrian camel is particularly fond of its baby, and is nursing ate procured a feeding bottle, and is bringing the calf up admirably with milk from the mother, put into the bottle. The father of both the camels is a very large double humped Bactrian camel, and is considered the largest and handsomest in Britain. There have been only four camel calves born in Britain, and what makes this the more curious is the two births taking place within half an hour of cach other. Mr. Fairgrieve has named the male calf 'Robert Burns," as it was born on the great Scotti-h bard's hirthday."

SAD ACCIDENT .- Capt. Adams, of the steamer Ocklawaha, informs us of a sad accident which occurred at Palatka on last Saturday evening: "A young man, Mr. R. F. Boling, left Palatka on Saturday night with three freedmen, in a small sail boat, to go to his place four miles below. The boat bottom up—and on Monday one of the freed-men's boats was found. There is no doubt but the entire party were drowned, the river being very rough at the time.—East Florida Banner.

In dissecting the body of a female pauper in New York, recently, the students unexpectedly found evidence that another human being had been devoured by trichina spiralis. How few there are who are not subject to some affection of the lungs or respiratory organs, who, by neglecting premonitory symptoms, aggravate the complaint, until disease strikes its shafts, causing inexpressible torture of the patient, and anxiety and distress to friends. "Only a cold!" "A slight sore throat!" is the he-sdless remark of many when so affected. Yes; "Only a cold," was the thoughtless expression of thousands whom Death has marked for his prey.

Forewarned—Forearmed! should be the motto forever in the minds of all subject to Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, or Influenza. The Vision of Confiscation which Fright. The South Should Act Under the Sherman plained. He discovered, it is credibly stated, that |· It is very well understood that bills are in the next Congress providing for a sweeping con-fiscation of rebel property in the Southern States, and for its distribution among the enfranchised and for its distribution among the entranchised slaves, for paying claims of loyal men for property destroyed during the war, and for giving farms to Northern soldiers who will settle in the South. Mr. Stevens has declared his purpose, 'God willing and he living,' to press such a measure as this upon Congress, and Gen. Banks in debate declared him congress, and Gen. Banks in debate declared him by order of the President.

By order of the President. self in favor of such distribution of Southern farms among Northern soldiers as the only effectual mode of reconstructing Southern society. It may safely be assumed that the whole body of Radicals in Congress will go for such a measure; and it is confidently expected that the rejection by the South of the new terms now proposed will create a fresh feeling of resentment which will give it popularity diers in a body.

It may be supposed that the Supreme Court will present a final barrier against the ultimate success of such a project. But it must be remembered that four members of that court out of nine would now, beyond all doubt, endorse such a measure; and that of the five who would oppose it, the bench, in consequence of extreme age and illness. A law was passed, moreover, at the last session, which declares that in case of the death

It did not entrust the movement to the provisional governments now existing, because they might fold their arms and refuse to act, and thereby defeat the object of the Bill. The military were clothed with ample power to keep the peace, and even suppress the existing civil government.

Some parties were relying on the Supreme Court to declare the Act proconstitutional. This was ilaside if you dare; and the Supreme Court has considered discretion the better part of valor, and had passed a resolution for the present not to interfere with political questions tion under the provisions of the act.

The other mode was for this Legislature to promptly pass an act providing for holding a and are soliciting contributions to enable them to erect a convention under the restrictions of this act of House of Worshin
